

COVID-19 WORKSITE CLOSING

Good afternoon,

As the COVID-19 virus continues to create challenges and uncertainty with business operations, NEMR Total HR will continue to provide you with the latest information needed to make critical employment and business decisions.

While the situation is fluid and updating constantly, you currently do not have to pay your employees if you choose to shut down your operations, and employees will be able to apply for unemployment insurance through the state, although the steps leading up to unemployment payments vary from state to state.

Below are links to the state specific information that is pertinent to you and your employees. If your state is not listed and you would like additional information about COVID-19 in your state, please contact NEMR Total HR.

Additionally, though it is not yet law, we are providing information on H.R. 6201 the Families First Coronavirus Response Act, which includes paid leave for workers, along with job protection and tax reimbursement for employers. This information is available in the “What May Come” section via the links above.

NEMR will be closely monitoring updates made to the Act, and the Act becoming law. Additional information on the Act can be found here.

As always, NEMR Total HR is available to assist you.
